The girl, Linda Sue Spangler, had multiple compound fractures of her left leg and cuts over the entire leg, hospital personnel reported. The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy E. Spangler, 152 South Main Street, Spring Grove. Her condition today is "fair."

A large cast will present this year's show, titled "Away We Go," and the entire ensemble of nearly 100 will appear in the opening number. New talent and favorites of other shows are included in what show officials say will be the "best Lions show yet."

Clubmen On Committees
Proceeds of the show will go into the club's charity fund. A statement in the printed program for the show, reports gifts from the Charity fund this year have totaled $2,161. The show is the club's chief means of replenishing that fund. Top gifts were $1,000 to the Community Chest, $500 to the Warner Hospital completing a $2,500 pledge, $150 for sight conservation, $125 for the Red Cross and $125 for Little League Baseball.

While the formal date of the annual clean-up week will be announced later, Attinger reminded that "now is the time to clean out the attic and basement, and begin the painting and cleaning up which will make ours a more beautiful and, with fire hazards removed, safer and healthier community."

QUIZ HS GRADS ABOUT TOPICS TO AID SCHOOLS

Nearly 500 of the 1,200 graduates from six county high schools have made "serious and considered" answers to questionnaires sent by their high school principals.

The response was revealed today with the sending of a second appeal to those who have not yet returned the questionnaire, asking them to participate in the study.

School officials termed progress in the project "excellent" noting that the response to the first questionnaire was "far above the average returns found in surveys conducted in similar fashion by others."

Asked For Comments
The questionnaires ask the graduates of 1953, 1954 and 1955 to evaluate the educational program in their own schools in the light of the experience which they have had either on jobs or in advanced training.

The graduates are asked a wide range of questions, including which courses have been most helpful to them, what additional courses would have been useful, how well their high schools trained them for their careers and what suggestions for improvement in the total school program they could offer.

Plans for the analysis were outlined by schoolmen last summer, and the machinery for the survey set in motion some months ago.

Women Tabulating
Tabulation of the returns is being handled by volunteers of the Education Committee of the American Association of University Women and the Gettysburg Women's Club at the request of school officials.

While the volunteer women have completed tabulation of the first 400 questionnaires — in a series of 13 meetings — no details of the returns were announced for fear such announcement might affect later returns.

Final results of the survey will be used as a basis for careful study of current high school programs and future planning of high school curriculums. School officials said the information received will be "an invaluable help to guidance counselors." They added that it is hoped those who have not yet sent in returns will respond in the near future to the new appeal.

Apple Blossom Queen

Miss Marian Griest, Biglerville R. D., who was chosen the 1958 Apple Blossom Queen at the annual contest conducted in the Biglerville High School cafeteria Friday evening.

The following editorial is reprinted from a recent issue of the Shippensburg News Chronicle:

"A long time has transpired since this column discussed completing the road across South Mountain from Shippensburg and Cumberland County to Arendtsville and Adams County, and nothing has been done about it in that time either."

"The road cuts off some 12 miles traveling distance for people going from Shippensburg to Gettysburg or for people going from Gettysburg to Shippensburg."

"This is a sizeable distance to be saved, especially so when you consider that only three and a half miles of hard surface road are needed."

"Cumberland County long ago completed its side of the roadway from Cleversburg to the county line on Big Flat. It's no fancy road but it's a reasonably good mountain road. That's all that needs to be done on the Adams County side. The road is there. It needs to be hard surfaced."

Cuban Cop Is Said To Be A Torture, Brutality Master

By LARRY ALLEN
HAVANA (AP)—Police Maj. Esteban Ventura is one of the most hated men in Havana.

He is often accused of practicing tortures to force confessions from rebels or anyone else arrested suspected of being an enemy of Batista's government.

Ventura, 40, technically is commandant only of a neighborhood police district, actually seems to boss the roundup of all suspected rebels throughout Havana.

Many trembling young Cubans — and old men and women — have looked into the cold, steely eyes of Ventura, always smiling and always in white linen.

He loves publicity and his picture gets into the papers far more often than that of President Fulgencia Batista.

All Prisoners Confess

Every prisoner confesses to revolutionary or other activities when questioned by Ventura before newsman. Most of the prisoners, for their public appearance seem in good physical shape. But they never remove their shirts or other clothing.

FLIES ACROSS ATLANTIC TO SAVE INTEREST

A check that ran into possibly eight figures provided George R. Martin Jr. with his first trip to his home here in nine years.

The younger Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Martin, W. High St., has been in Casablanca, Morocco, since February, 1949.

He had served in Africa with the Trans-World Airlines in 1946 and 1947, had married a French native of Casablanca, came to the U. S. and then in 1949 returned to Morocco.

Since then he had been employed by Atlas Constructors as an electrical estimator and more recently in charge of the electrical warehouse at the Novasseur Air Base near Casablanca.

Saves Interest

When the company received a check in Italy, it delegated Martin to fly to Italy, pick up the check and then fly to New York to deposit and thus save interest charges. The trip permitted him to spend a few days at home before returning to Casablanca April 29.

Atlas Constructors, which built the air bases in the Moroccan area, at one time had 7,000 Americans and thousands of natives on its payroll at the height of its activities. It consisted of five large American contractors who formed one company — Atlas — for the duration of its contract. Basis of the Atlas company was Morrison-Knudsen Co. of Boise, Idaho, which also forms the base of another similar joint company for the construction of Iranian bases now being started.

The Atlas Co. has about completed its work in Morocco, will end the present contract September 1. Martin said his plans are indefinite after September 1 because the company may also secure a contract for maintenance of some bases in the north African area.

Griest, Biglerville R. D., past president of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society Auxiliary.

Fifteen girls were entered in the contest, ranging in age from 16 to 20, all daughters of fruit growers or connected in some way with the fruit industry in Adams County.

The three judges held two private conferences and conducted their own interviews of five candidates before finally deciding on Miss Griest.

The judging was so close that in several instances a margin of only ten points, out of a possible 1,000, separated the candidates.

Several Times

In the selection of the first five candidates the judges, each voting without knowledge of the others, chose one candidate twice for first place, two candidates for second and third each, one candidate twice in the first five and one candidate three times in the first five.

The judging was based on beauty, poise, grooming, carriage, speaking, general appearance and knowledge of the apple industry among the leading qualities.

E. P. Dumm, Harrisburg, president of the Pennsylvania Chain Store Council, conducted the initial interviews.

William Meyers, of Harrisburg, affiliated with the department of the bureau of marketing, announced the winner.

An alternate candidate was selected by the judges but was not announced.

The judges were Harry Peters, Scotland, past president of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society; Mrs. Louise Dix, Chambersburg, home economics supervisor of Franklin County, and Paul L. Roy, editor of The Gettysburg Times.

REBELS LOSING IN INDONESIA

By JOHN RODERICK
JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Spurred on by the easy capture of Padang, Jakarta troops advanced on the Sumatran rebels' capital today with hopes of taking it ahead of their original schedule.

President Sukarno's troops were pushing up 58 miles of winding mountain road from the port city of Padang toward Bukittinggi, the rebel capital and last remaining city.

After meeting only token resistance at Padang Thursday, the government revised its timetable which originally had allowed three days for the march of Bukittinggi. "It will all be over soon," a military spokesman predicted.

Associated Press Correspondent Murray Fromson, who witnessed the capture of Padang, saw only slight rebel counterfire during the amphibious invasion. Government airpower completely disorganized the rebels, who fled under straining, he reported.

Three other columns of Jakarta forces continued to move toward Bukittinggi from the northwest, East and Southeast. A military spokesman in Jakarta said Sukarno's forces outnumber the rebels almost four to one.

The rebels have vowed to fight on in a hit-and-run war out of the jungles, using the same guerrilla tactics which won Indonesia her independence from the Dutch in 1949.

"TAKING ACCOUNT"

There comes a time in life when we . . . are prone to stop and think . . . and view the ledger of the past . . . its red and sky blue ink . . . for life is like a ledger . . . we write upon its years . . . the good things and the bad things . . . the happiness and tears . . . things long since gone confront us . . . when scanning yesterdays . . . and many things we should forget . . . appear in memory's haze . . . mistakes we made are brought to light . . . and deep inside we yearn . . . to rectify our errors . . . but we cannot return . . . yes, once a thing is over with . . . it is forever done . . . no matter what we say or do . . . the web is tightly spun . . . still it is good to take accounting . . . of the days gone by . . . because they teach us what it means . . . to laugh as well as cry.

"It's a very beautiful trip across the South Mountain, but it's a little too rocky in its present state to be of any value."

"We believe the concerted effort of our Chamber of Commerce and the active Junior Chamber together with their counterparts in Adams County could help to bring this thing to come to pass."

Fugitives Leave Note; All In Vain

DALHART, Tex. (AP)—Two prisoners who left a note explaining why they were breaking out of jail are back again. Sheriff R. C. Johnson said Allan Hoefer of Bartlesville, Okla., and Rowland Mahler of Los Angeles, left this note:

"Sorry we had to leave like this. We'll be back as soon as we get enough money for an attorney. Would appreciate it if you could postpone the trial until June. Will get in touch with you. Without any money we haven't got a chance."

Johnson said the two were awaiting trial on charges of burglarizing a cafe here.

After tramping across 14 miles of brush Friday, the two hailed a car for a ride. It was Deputy Sheriff Claude Roper, who gave them their ride back to jail.

Until recently, New Mexico was an officially bi-lingual state. And even today voting ballots, road signs and many official documents are printed in both English and Spanish.

Herbert Hoover Operated Upon

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, who is 84, underwent a gall bladder operation today at Harkness Pavilion of the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. The operation began at 8 a.m. and ended at 9:15 a.m. The hospital said his condition was "satisfactory."

The former President has had several gall bladder attacks in the past. In 1950 he was hospitalized after a gall bladder attack.

Hoover's sons, Herbert Jr. and Allan, were at the hospital during the operation.

A hospital spokesman said it was not known how long Hoover would be hospitalized.

The text of the hospital bulletin, issued at 9:20 a.m., said: "Ex-President Herbert Hoover underwent an operation for removal of a gall bladder today at the Harkness Pavilion of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. The surgery was successful, and attending physicians reported Mr. Hoover's condition as satisfactory."

"The operation started at 8 a.m. and was completed at 9:15. Mr. Hoover had several gall bladder attacks in the past. His sons, Herbert Hoover Jr. and Allan Hoover, were present."

police upon Mrs. Esther Milanes, a school teacher, 50.

She was arrested upon suspicion of having information as to the location of hidden rebel arms. She stoutly voiced her innocence.

In a complaint made to the Supreme Court, her physician reported she was brutally beaten, trampled upon, and a small iron bar forcibly inserted into her body.

Rebel Hotspots The Same
A Colombian student was arrested along with Mrs. Milanes. When the Colombian ambassador started hunting for the missing student, both suspects were released in his custody.

Mrs. Milanes was rushed to a hospital. There she recounted a story of torture and said police threatened to rape her to force a confession. She said the Colombian student was tortured before her eyes in an effort to break down her resistance.

Mrs. Milanes later took asylum in a Latin American embassy.

The name of Ventura is the most feared in Havana. Nearly every Cuban who falls into his hands and eventually regains freedom reports he was beaten and tortured.

But there's no Havana monopoly on police brutality. What happens here is daily duplicated in rebel hotspots such as Santiago de Cuba.

Proclamation

INDIVIDUAL freedom under law is the birthright of all Americans. Laws and courts exist to protect every citizen, in his person and property, and in the individual rights and privileges he enjoys under our federal and state constitutions.

It is this liberty and equality for the individual which distinguishes our system of government from communism, under which millions of people are today living in slavery. Without laws and courts the freedoms we often take for granted would be meaningless.

This important truth is to be recognized publicly in a nationwide observance of LAW DAY—U. S. A. to be held on May 1, 1958. The citizens of Gettysburg have been invited to participate. Their purpose will be to focus public attention on the important part that law has played in America's growth and achievement.

LAW DAY—U. S. A. is to be the first national celebration of its kind ever held. The present status of world affairs makes it especially fitting that our people should at this time reaffirm their faith in the rule of law and their determination to strengthen it. This is both a timely and patriotic observance emphasizing respect for law and good citizenship. It merits the support and cooperation of individuals, organizations and schools.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Wilbur L. Plank, Burgess of the Borough of Gettysburg do hereby proclaim Thursday, May 1, 1958, as LAW DAY—U. S. A. in the Borough of Gettysburg and call upon all citizens, organizations and schools to recognize this special day and to join in its observance.

Today's Talk

YOU ARE NEEDED!

There are a great many people in this world who don't know what to do with themselves. Well, such people are needed and ought to know it. We are all needed. We are needed for our friend's sake, for our own sake, and for the sake of all with whom we come in contact. I don't know what the plea may be, but I am sure there is a place for every human being — where he is needed. Nurses are needed. Gardeners are needed. Cooks, houseworkers, and drivers of cars are needed. Yes, and comedians are needed, the funnier the better. They are a tonic to the soul.

Don't ever make the statement that you are not needed in this world. Not only are you needed but a dozen or more like you. There never will be enough people to fill the demand for good workers — and only good workers are happy workers! We never realize how much we are needed.

Recently Gen. Romulo lost his son in an air crash. He had to get to Manila in record time. At one place all seats were sold, but there was one who appreciated the situation and stepped forward and asked for volunteers to give up two seats for the general. Seven quickly volunteered! How that must have warmed the heart of this grief-stricken father. Day by day, all over this fear-filled world there are people who are needed, and they don't know when. Those who gave kindly aid to Gen. Romulo didn't know that they were so soon to be needed. Nor do any of us. Let's be ready, anyway! We are even needed to enlighten hope in the world and to put confidence into the minds of those who may be full of fear.

Just Folks

ON SUCCESS

I want to succeed, but I want to play fair;
I am eager to get to the top,
But I don't want to sell out myself to get there.
Nor think I'm too busy to stop
To stretch out hand now and then to a brother
And be of some use while I live, to another.

I want to grow rich and I'd like to win fame,
But I want neither glory nor pelf
If to get them I've got to go into the game
And fight all the while for myself.
I want to make good, but I don't want to be Thinking always of what there is in it for me.

Blosser, Jr. operates the New Oxford Baby Shoe company in a building at the rear of the second block on East Middle street, has been making baby shoes for the last 18 months at 143 Baltimore street where he resides. New machinery will be installed in the new building and up to 40 persons can be employed. Mr. Blosser plans to expand his business gradually and eliminate the home work.

ARMY SERGEANT IS FINED $120

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — An Army court-martial Friday fined M. Sgt. Robert E. Weidensaul of Pottstown, Pa., $120 for roughing up a teen-age Korean thief and nailing him into a narrow, three-foot-long box.

Weidensaul was the third American ordered punished for mistreating 14-year-old Kim Chong Il, who was caught stealing at an aircraft maintenance center in Korea.

The sergeant was convicted of cropping and tarring the boy's hair, stuffing him into a crate and nailing it shut Feb. 25. Weidensaul's commander Maj. Thomas James of Plymouth, Pa., then flew the box to another base 25 miles away. The boy is now in a U.S.-supported orphanage.

James earlier was relieved of his command and fined $200. The

Todd's Estate Is Over 3 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Showman Mike Todd's estate today was estimated unofficially at between three and five million dollars. He left half in trust for his widow, screen star Elizabeth Taylor, and bequeathed the other half outright to his son, Michael Todd Jr.

Todd's will was filed for probate in the New York County Surrogate's Court. Todd, 48, perished in a New Mexico plane crash March 21.

The will was dated April 16, 1957, and named his son as executor.

Other man accused in the case, Capt. Marvin E. Kemp of Kilimichal, Miss., was fined $1200 and relieved of command for six months for knocking the boy about and nicking him with a knife.

Weidensaul testified nine cases of stealing had been reported on the station in the previous month.

Let's Look At The Record

By Jim Dan Hill, Ph.D.

CERTIFICATION
Teaching Certificates Are Not A Racket; College Curriculums Adequate In Sciences

LYDIA STOUT explodes with indignation over the thought that "not even Albert Einstein could legally" teach first-grade arithmetic in Florida.

He does not have enough "education" credits!

Mrs. Stout, in the current issue of "The Atlantic Monthly," is attacking what she chooses to call "the certification racket."

Einstein's case is really nothing to get excited about. It does not appear to be of record that Albert ever wanted to take over a first-grade class. And if Mrs. Stout ever gets around to reading some of Einstein's mathematical concepts, she will not want him teaching any of her grade school children.

Mrs. Stout's bleats are intermixed with enough similar nonsense that one wonders why the normally careful editors of the old "Atlantic" did not do a bit of checking.

One of her empty implications proposes that modern college students are so burdened with courses on how to teach that they learn nothing to teach; ergo, our science suffers and Russia beats us with Sputniks.

HERE, IT SHOULD be explained that this reviewer has never been a professor of education. He has at least a point in common with Einstein. He is not certified to teach first-grade arithmetic anywhere, though no parent from Florida or elsewhere has been gracious enough to protest his non-availability.

On the other hand he has often been severely criticized for being too academic in outlook and overly critical of the intellectual busy work that constitutes some of the so-called advanced courses in education.

IN LIEU OF Mrs. Stout's empty allegations and unsubstantiated denunciations let us answer the honest question, not just for Florida, but for America as a whole: Are prospective teachers required to take so many credit hours of "education" courses in pedagogy, to get a teacher's certificate, along with their Bachelor's Degree, that study within academic fields are crowded from the curriculums?

MOST COLLEGES and universities use the semester-hour as a unit of measurement. Some require 120 for a Bachelor's Degree; others require as high as 128.

For this discussion, let us take the smaller and less advantageous figure and accept only 120 semester-hours as the quantitative base upon which the baccalaureate degree is normally awarded. These 120 credits must be properly distributed as to curricular requirements; i.e., in basic disciplines, in major and minor fields, and in education. If a certificate is to accompany the degree.

A PROSPECTIVE scientist, with an urge toward atomic knowledge, with or without teaching intentions, normally majors in physics for approximately 30 semester-hours. He would probably minor in mathematics which would require 3 to 6 credits beyond calculus.

Undergraduate science curriculum approximately 30 hours that the student may utilize as electives.

These approximate figures are practically standard for colleges of liberal arts and science curriculums throughout America.

Can the student elect sufficient education courses within this curricular structure to get a certificate within these 30 elective semester-hours?

If the answer is yes, Mrs. Stout's basic contention is invalid. If negative, her case is sustained.

THE ANSWER requires an examination of the minimums for certification of all the states in the nation, including Florida.

All the 48 states require a Bachelor's Degree for certification to teach in high school. Four of them require only 12 hours of education. Only one state requires as high as 27 hours.

The average of all others appears to be only 18.9 hours. In other words, in the typical state, the physics-mathematics academic major can more than satisfy the conventional requirements of his science fields and still have 10 or 11 hours of electives that he can apply to additional advance science and math courses, if he so desires.

Professional requirements to the Bachelor Degree level for teaching in elementary and lower grades are usually more than for prospective high school teachers. But college students planning elementary teacher qualifications are not going in for advanced math and science anyway. Thus the pedagogy courses they are required to take have nothing to do with American's ability to launch as big a Sputnik as Russia's canine carrier.

Yes, the editors of Ye Olde "Atlantic Monthly" were asleep at the switch when they let Mrs. Stout perpetrate her random rantings on their readers.

BEARS NEED WIN

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Hershey Bears, needing one victory to win the American Hockey League title, meet the Springfield Indians in the fifth game of their Calder Cup final playoffs here tonight.

The Bears hold a 3-1 edge in their best of seven championship series with the Indians.

Hershey, which opened the series playoff here with two straight victories, returns to its home ice after breaking even in a two game stand at Springfield.

National League pitchers permitted 1,178 homers in 1957. These were 41 less than in 1956 and 85 less than in 1955.

There was some speculation in diplomatic quarters that one purpose of Gromyko's charges was to try to put the United States on the defensive at the start of summit conference negotiations with the West.

They were sitting in for Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense McElroy, both of whom are away from Washington.

In response to questions, Hagerty said his characterization of the Gromyko charges as not true applies to all of the foreign ministers' remarks contending U.S. planes armed with atomic and hydrogen bombs were sent across the polar region toward the Soviet Union.

78,672 Fans Watch Dodgers Open Season With 6-5 Win Over Giants To Set Record

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Herb Score, Cleveland's courageous young pitcher, now has passed the third barrier in his comeback bid, overcoming poor fielding support and his own wildness to win his first game with the crackling fastball and curve that have made him baseball's most consistent strikeout sensation.

The 24-year-old lefty, who first battled to retain sight in his left eye after last May's dreadful accident, then returned to face a batter again, gained his first complete game yesterday with a five-hit, eight-strikeout job that beat Detroit 7-5.

The victory pushed Cleveland into a four-way share of third in the American League. The New York Yankees took first, handing Baltimore its first defeat 3-1 on Whitey Ford's five-hitter. The supposed weak-hitting Chicago White Sox cracked four home runs and beat Kansas City 11-7 in the only other AL game scheduled.

In the National, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated San Francisco 6-5 in their Coliseum debut before a crowd of 78,672—a major league record for a single, regular season game. The unbeaten Chicago Cubs rapped winless St. Louis 11-6, Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 4-1 and Milwaukee defeated Philadelphia 4-2.

Score, struck by Yankee Gil McDougald's linedrive last May 7, pushed his strikeout total to 506 for 524 innings he blanked the Tigers after the Indians, committed three of their four errors on one play in the sixth. That bit of humor enabled reliever Tom Morgan to score on his own unsuccessful sacrifice bunt attempt and tie it 5-5.

Minnie Minoso's single broke the tie in a two-run eighth off Morgan.

Ford, in his '58 debut, gave up the Orioles' run or three singles in the first. Jerry Lumpe's fly ball and Bobby Richardson's single scored Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron, in a deciding sixth against Billy Loes.

Jim Landis, Ron Jackson, Luis Aparicio and Bubba Phillips hit the White Sox homers, good for seven runs.

BOWLING LEAD CHANGES TWICE

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The two-man division has again proved to be the most vulnerable department in the 55th American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The leadership in the doubles category was exchanged twice yesterday. There has not been a new name hoisted to the top of the singles, doubles or open team division standings since April 11.

Dick Selgo and Don Bredehoff, Port Clinton, Ohio, enjoyed some extremely transient glory when they assembled a 1,335 series to take command of the doubles.

Along came George Wakulsky and Edward D. Smrek, Lansing, Mich., on the next squad and beat them out by one pin with 1,336. The sparse afternoon crowd was thrilled when Smrek got a turkey in the final frame of the last game and slipped past the Port Clinton duo.

Smrek totaled 94 for the outing and got 642 pins in support from his partner.

Jerry Gerzine of Milwaukee became the youngest 1,800 shooter in ABC history yesterday. The 15-year-old son of Ed Gerzine, 1955 ABC singles champion rolled 636-542-643—1,821 all-events aggregate.

Bullets, Warriors In Home Games Monday Afternoon

Local baseball fans will have the choice of two home games Monday afternoon, Gettysburg College entertaining Muhlenberg at 3 o'clock, and the Gettysburg High Warriors hosting Chambersburg at 3:30.

The high-flying Bullets (6-1) will be out for their seventh consecutive victory at the expense of the Mules. Coach Jim Kozlowski is well fortified with veterans at Muhlenberg with nine from last year. Either Charlie Takacs or Bill Higgins, both lettermen, will probably pitch against the locals. Buckley Walters is expected to hurl for Gettysburg.

Ben Jones' unbeaten Gettysburg High outfit goes after its fourth straight against the defending South Penn Champs at the recreation park. The Warriors and Trojans are currently tied with Hanover for the league lead with 1-0 marks. John McClellan is scheduled to hurl against the Trojans, while "Tank" Bender will probably be his opponent.

SANFORD HURLS FAST BALL AND LOGAN BELTS IT

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"He gave me the weak hitter pitch — the fast ball — and I was ready for it."

It was shortstop Johnny Logan talking about the shot that thrills every ball player—a bases loaded home run.

Logan hit one last night in the sixth inning to spoil the Philadelphia Phillies 195 home opening.

The four run blast propelled the world champion Braves to a 4-2 victory over the Phillies and their young fastballer, Jack Sanford.

Sanford, 1957 rookie of the year on the wings of a 19-7 record, and Bob Buhl, one of the heroes of Milwaukee's drive to last year's National League pennant, were hooked up in a scoreless pitching duel. Buhl had allowed two hits and Sanford three through the first five innings.

Then came the sixth.

Retires Big Gun
Bob Hazle walked and trouble loomed for Sanford with Milwaukee's big guns, Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron coming up. But Sanford, strikeout king of the league last season, turned on the speed. He retired the two big Braves.

The crowd of 31,624 breathed easier.

But Frank Torre singled and Sanford lost the range to walk Andy Pafko. Up came Logan, a 273 hitter who doesn't exactly make good pitchers shudder. He hit 10 homers last year, none off Philadelphia pitchers.

Sanford worked the count to a ball and a strike.

"I knew that kid was going to fast ball me," said the 31-year-old Logan.

Second Grand Slam
"I was set for it. Sure enough there she came, fast and on target. It's the pitch the fastballing guys throw to us weak hitters," said Johnny.

Logan teed off and the shot landed in the upper left field stands, some 350 feet from home plate.

High in the press box, the writers wanted to know how many grand slams Logan had hit in his major league career. Some one said it was his second, but they couldn't remember when.

Ask Logan, suggested someone. A ball player never forgets a grand slam.

"It was in 1955 at Cincinnati off Tom Acker," said Johnny. "It was a fast ball too."

GODIH EASILY DEFEATS BAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—This capital is becoming a charmed city for European fight champions. Ask Lahouari Godih, of Algeria by way of Paris.

Godih, lightweight champion of France, last night trimmed Larry Baker of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., in the same Capitol Arena ring where Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria made his American debut a year ago this month.

Bassey, then British Empire featherweight champion, whipped Miguel Berrios in the elimination series which led him to the world title.

Baker provided little opposition as Godih stabbed and clouted to his 20th straight victory since 1954.

Won Title In April
Godih, who won the French crown last April, may lack the power and polish to threaten world lightweight king Joe Brown. But while neither fighter did much to excite the arena crowd watching the nationally televised 10-round bout, Godih had too much speed for the sluggish Baker and got in most liquids.

Referee Marty Gallagher scored the no-knockdown affair 99-80 for Godih, Judge Ben Alperstein, 99-83, and Judge Julian Whitestone, 99-85. The Associated Press liked Godih 97-86.

Godih would have rated 100 with all three officials had he not lost a point for a low blow in the ninth. Baker, a welterweight, scored 142 and Godih 141 1/2.

FRIDAY'S STARS
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PITCHING—Whitely Ford, Yankees, struck out six, walked but two in five-hit, 3-1 victory over Orioles, faced only 16 and didn't allow a hit over the last five innings.

HITTING—Vada Pinson, Redlegs, rookie up from class C made his first major league home run a grand-slammer for 4-1 victory over Pirates.

FIGHT LAST NIGHT
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON — Lahouari Godih, 141, Paris, outpointed Larry Baker, 142, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., 10,

New Feature

Ted Williams, one of the best hitters in baseball history, will start a new sports feature for the Times called "My Big Hit."

Williams will tell of the hit which gave him the biggest thrill. Other baseball "greats" will follow with their accounts of baseball thrills, including Stan "The Man" Musial, Mickey Mantle, Ed Mathews, Bill Skowron, Hank Bauer and many others plus a few big league managers. Look for them on the sports page of The Gettysburg Times.

Mt. St. Mary's scored five runs in the top of the sixth inning to wipe out a 3-0 lead of Towson State Teachers College and went on for a 6-4 victory on the loser's diamond Friday afternoon.

Dick Russo, sophomore right-hander, went the route for Coach Jim Phelan's Mountaineers and yielding seven hits, fanned 12 and walked four.

The Mount collected a total of 14 hits with Luke Pannon, a freshman, collecting two singles and a double. Denny Shuck, a senior, poled a homerun.

Today the Mount plays a doubleheader at Loyola, Baltimore, with the first game starting at 1:30.

Most Of Plant Food Value Of Manure Is Lost, Says Zettle

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

About a billion tons of farm manure is produced annually in the United States. The crop producing potential of this manure is considered to be about three billion dollars, but much of this potential is not realized. In fact, probably only one-fourth to one-third of the plant food value of manure is ever used by crops.

Soil tests made at the Pennsylvania State University show that even less than one-fourth of manure value is being realized in many sections of the county.

Dairy farms in Adams County that have been in operation well over 100 years still show low and, in some cases, very low soil potash levels. This hardly seems possible because thousands of tons of manure, which is supposed to carry a lot of potash, has been applied to these fields for years. Theoretically we should recover about 85 per cent of the potash fed to the animal, and 70 per cent of this potash will be in the liquid portion of the manure. In other words, if the liquid is lost, much of the value of manure is lost.

Much Washed Away

Most farmers haul manure directly from the barn to the field. Much of this manure is lost from washing away on steep hillsides. More is lost because the farmer doesn't use enough bedding.

The best way to store manure is under a shed roof, and tramp or pack it like silage, making sure it does not become dry. To realize the maximum value from manure it is recommended that it be hauled to the fields and plowed down as soon as possible. This will not seem practical to most farmers, but in the long run, it would be the most practical method of conserving this valuable farm by product.

No Substitute For Rotation

There is no substitute for a good crop rotation, including a legume-grass sod turned down at regular intervals. Intelligent use of lime, manure, and commercial fertilizer is very important for both cash crops, and the soil building crops in the rotation. Corn usually follows a hay sod, and the better the sod turned under, the better the yield of corn. Corn likes a deep, well-drained soil with high fertility levels.

Planning hybrids adapted to this section of the state is advised and use those hybrids resistant to insects and diseases.

Plant Population

For very shallow soils where drought damage may be severe, aim at a plant population of 12,000 plants per acre. For deep, moist soils, having very high fertility levels, aim at a population of 14,000 to 18,000 plants per acre. To do good work the planter must have the proper plates for the grade or size of seed to be used.

A complete soil test is the best guide to follow in determining the amount and kind of fertilizer to use. Soil test mailing kits, including instructions for taking a soil sample, can be obtained at the extension office. The kits sell for one dollar each.

Plant rows across the slope, on the contour, instead of up and down hill. A contour strip layout pays big dividends not only for corn but all crops in the rotation and has many desirable features. Plant corn about 1½ to 2 inches deep.

Spraying Weeds

Do not cultivate too deep or too close to row. If weeds are a problem, spray with 2,4-D when corn is 4 to 10 inches tall or spray pre-emergence.

Sow 20 pounds of domestic ryegrass per acre at the last normal cultivation of corn, provided the corn ground is not to go into winter grain and not to be plowed in the fall. This operation will not help the corn crop this year, but its repeated use will pay dividends over a period of years.

Maintaining regularity in the chore routine is a simple but important feature in preparing the cow for milking. The noise of milk buckets rattling, feeding immediately before milking, and the familiar sight of the dairyman affect the cow only to the extent that it is maintained a regular time, so she can associate it with the act of milking.

"Conditioned Reflex"

Years ago a Russian scientist demonstrated what he termed a "conditioned reflex." He showed a hungry dog a piece of meat and a few moments he fed the dog the meat. After a conditioning period, he found that by merely ringing the bell, saliva would be secreted in a dog's mouth. The dog had developed a conditioned reflex that told him he'd get something to eat every time the bell rang. Thus, the dog had learned to associate the sound of the bell with a piece of meat.

A cow is just like a dog. If every night at the same time the dairyman follows a set pattern for doing chores, he is setting up a conditioned reflex in his cows. Cows associate certain noises or smells with the pleasant relief that comes with the withdrawal of a heavy load of milk. So dairymen should put the cow in the proper mood for letting down milk, but being regular. Establishing a definite routine and time for doing chores is the trick that leads to more efficient milk production.

The male blackcap bird, a small warbler, often helps his wife incubate her eggs by sitting on them while she takes a rest period. But, the male blackcap is strictly a ham performer and often betrays the location of their nest because he continually sings while sitting on the eggs.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — Spring, particularly this portion, is a treacherous period. The days and nights can be mild and warm and then, suddenly, comes a killing frost.

Killing frosts have been charted for years, and the average date of the last one in one's own locality (plus the average date of the first autumn killer) are dates which should be engraved in the gardener's mind. It is a fine gauge for all kinds of activities, including the judging of when to start seeds inside and in cold frames and hot beds. In my own locality, May 15 is the day. A bit to the north, in New England, it comes two weeks later. To the south, say around Philadelphia, it is two weeks earlier.

However, it is merely an average established by weather behavior over the years. And two years ago, the averages went sour here when a killing frost turned up on May 27.

There are plenty of preliminary garden chores so that rushing outside planting isn't necessary. Besides, plants set out a little later usually catch up with the early birds.

Special Attention

This is a good time to give trees and shrubs special attention if other jobs or weather has prevented the job earlier. Spring blooming shrubs, of course, should be pruned after blooming because most of them form their flower buds for next spring on the growth they make during the coming months.

The trick in pruning lies in proper equipment — sharp shears and saws — and cutting out old wood from the base to make room for new growth. Always prune a shrub with an eye to preserving the natural shape — the feathery habit of spirea, the weeping effect of some forsythia and the perky look of the viburnums. Hedges may be trimmed into more formal shapes, but even there make the top rounded and clip them narrower at the top than at the bottom so the sun can reach the lower branches to make them leaf out.

Repair Injured Tree

When a tree or shrub is injured, make repairs instantly, regardless of season. Trees and shrubs suffered a great deal of damage in the late March snow storms in the East. Among other damage, I lost a big bough on a pink dogwood, which I cut off below the break, painting the wound with special tree paint to protect and speed healing. It is a good idea to study up on pruning techniques. A very good book on the subject is Christopher's Pruning Manual.

Except for the shrubs which are spring or early summer bloomers, most larger plants will benefit from some spring pruning. The evergreens, however, should be left alone until they start their spring growth. Then they should be carefully cut back with a sharp knife.

All of the plants, including hedges which for some reason are often overlooked, will benefit from regular light feedings of quick-dissolving fertilizer at about two month intervals during the growing season. And they need plenty of water.

Through much of the country, spring remains the best time to plant new rose bushes, trees and evergreens because they have a longer period in which to establish roots to get them through winter.

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — Anyone who thinks that readying the garden for winter is a quick, casual job may find himself, come spring, with a lot of plants which, if they haven't been killed by the weather, have suffered considerable damage.

Rugged privet, used so widely for hedges, seems to be able to survive hard times, poor soil and rough treatment magnificently. But the burden of melting snow lying atop this hardy shrub may rip, tear and twist it out of shape. One important wintering job is to make certain the hedge — whether evergreen or deciduous — goes into the cold period trimmed, and slightly rounded at the top so that it may more easily shed its snow burdens.

Always in clipping the hedge, make certain that its sides are wider at the bottom than at the top — this makes for a stronger plant.

Mulches, of course, are essential to protecting many perennials over the winter. Good materials are many — oak leaves and peat for the acid-loving plants, and particularly for the broad leaved evergreens like rhododendron and laurel which tend to be shallow rooted. Straw or salt hay is fine for strawberries; crumbly, well-rooted manure both protects and feeds early-growing rhubarb. Peat, leafmold, buckwheat hulls and even non-acid fallen leaves protect the flower beds, while a mulch of soil — mounded high — on the pruned hybrid tea roses helps protect them through evil weather conditions.

Withstand Cold Weather

Perennials, which includes trees, of course, withstand cold weather without difficulty. The purpose of the protective mulch is not to make a cozy warm foothold for wintering plants, but to insulate the frozen ground so that it will remain frozen during unseasonable warm spells, when thawing ground is likely to rip and tear all roots, heave the smaller roots out of the ground and fatally expose delicate feeder roots to sun and wind.

Plants should go into cold weather pruned of dead and drying wood, well-fed and — if weak — staked and supported to withstand snow burdens and to resist whipping by winter wind. When snow does pile up on them, the gardener should make his round while it is fresh-fallen, light and easily dispatched and carefully shake the branches — preferably from the bottom. Inaccessible branches may be reached with a rake or potato hook — taking special care not to damage the bark. If there is an ice storm, or the snow has become heavy and crusted, it is better to leave them alone, for removal then can only rip and tear more severely than melting.

Prize Specimens

Some prize specimens can be taken through winter beautifully with slight protection against burning sun and drying wind. Some newly planted trees appreciate a bandage of burlap or paper wound around the tender trunk. I save burlap the way some people save string — from the bird-seed (100 lb. bags) and bales of peat — and each winter build a protective screen around the boxwood. Each year I mean to do a big production to cover the new foundation planting which each February and March suffered some burn from the warming sun and scorching winds — maybe this year.

McDonald Opponent Asks Tabulation

PITTSBURGH — Donald R. Rarick, a McKeesport steelworker who has never conceded that he was defeated by president David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers in a union election last year, went to court today demanding a detailed tabulation of votes.

Rarick asked the Allegheny County common pleas court to order McDonald and I. W. Abel, USW secretary-treasurer, to provide him with a tabulation of votes in each USW district and local throughout the country. The union announced after the election McDonald was re-elected to his $50,000-a-year job for a four-year term. It said McDonald had received 404,172 votes and Rarick 223,516.

BUILDING AND FURNITURE

ON THE HOUSE

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Architects, interior decorators and furniture designers are integrating their efforts and foresee the time when American homes will have more built-in units.

A group of designers meeting here discussed trends in American living and found that millions of middle class people move each year. They agree that stationary furniture and fittings are in sight.

"The kitchen sink is taken for as part of the granted," said Larry Peabody, a Boston furniture designer.

"Closets will have built-in chests and drawers. A bedroom need not remain a bedroom in appearance," he said.

Watch Little Things

Designer John Van Koert of New York says we can lavish more attention on the little things — a painting that can be transported, a piece of sculpture, silverware. These are personal attachments.

"We are shipping around a lot of sentimentality in furniture," Van Koert said. "I don't think we ought to become neurotic because we give up something we've sat on for a couple of years."

Designers envision a library of changeable parts and panels in color and fabric for decorating built-in cabinets and interior walls of homes. These could match upholstery in chairs and sofas.

Solve Moving Problem

To achieve this, the designers suggest that a home may have furniture built into it according to specifications from an architect. The designers suggest this as one method of solving the moving problem.

Bernard Bruening of Staunton, Va., says home furnishings have reached a high state of artistic and cultural excellence.

"It seems to me in our acceptance of design, informality is associated with our modern way of living," Bruening said. "The sterile modern of the late 1930's and early 1940's is history. New patterns from all designers are new and not a return to traditionalism. The new creation is warm, charming and liveable," he said.

"Field Of Invention"

Henry Glass of Chicago says American design is taking the direction of greater personal expression. The field of invention is pointing the way.

"There are a lot of human problems that have to be met," Glass said. "There are some things that should stay in a home and some things that should go."

Among the things that could stay is a new sliding-door mirror. E. F. Gardner says this invention will revolutionize home interior styling.

"By using large panels of mirror that reflect a major portion of a room, builders will be able to create a new dimension in space, giving small areas a feeling of greater height and depth," he said.

The six by eight-foot mirror is a packaged product complete with aluminum frame and equipped with all hardware for hanging. It is delivered to the building site in a single carton.

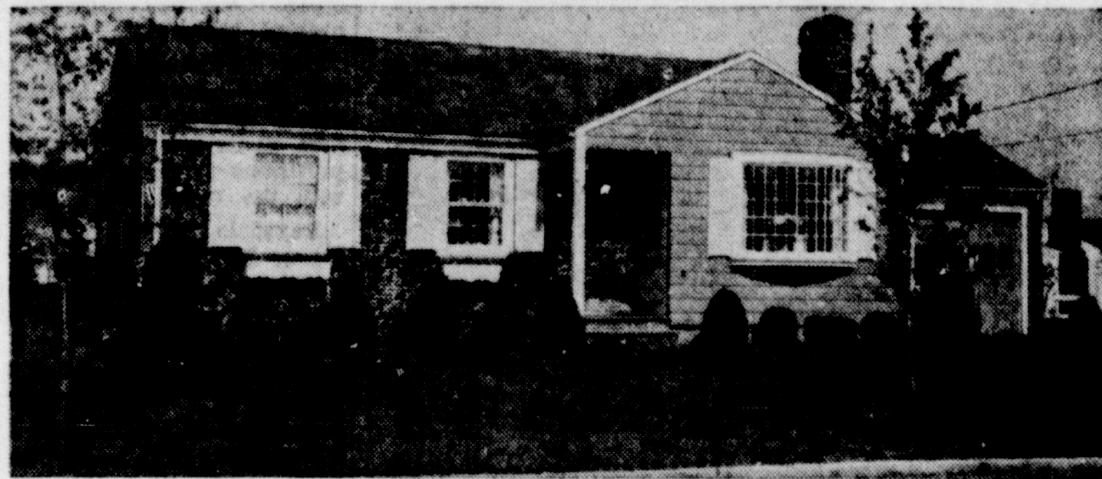

Another idea of interior decorating was advanced by Edward Wormley who used discarded flannel leather on walls and the ceiling of a room. The idea achieves a rustic texture effect now prominent in architectural design.

Even the kitchen sink has become decorative.

Margaret Sedwick fashioned a casual patio setting featuring a console kitchen sink unit covered in black tropical leather and lined with mandarin red leather.

The Home of the Week Plan Service today features the "Kevin," a six-room ranch type house that has traditional features that will please the eye and also break-up the sometimes too-plain lines of a ranch home.

From the outside, the house appears small. But it is a deception, for the rooms are all generously proportioned. To provide an owner with the most house for minimum dollars, each square foot inside the "Kevin" serves some useful living purpose.

The straight line across the front of the house is broken by the ell projecting outward to the street. This unit therefore serves to provide a sheltered front entrance and it also contains the living room.

Spacious Living Room

The 14 by 17-foot living room is nicely proportioned and its nearly square shape makes for ease and flexibility in furniture arrangement. In addition, there are long unbroken areas along each of the room's four walls, which is another valuable asset in planning the location of the pieces to be used in this room.

The house illustrated makes use of a bow window in the front wall of the living room, but this is a feature that could be substituted according to the desires of an owner.

Instead of the bow window, a conventional picture window unit lets and refrigerator, the sink unit when closed resembles an innocent cabinet in a casual arrangement of wicker chairs, upholstered bright yellow wrought iron chair and walls of blue pecky cypress.

Complete with range, water out-could be installed, or even two or three closely set double hung windows would be attractive. And if added structural costs were unobjectionable, a full bay window would be attractive and also add some floor area.

Fireplace Setting

The living room of the "Kevin" features a fireplace which adds to the charm of any house. The guest closet is immediately to the left of the front door upon entering the house.

The kitchen, the dining room, bathroom and one of the home's three bedrooms are arranged across the rear of the house. The kitchen is 12 feet long by nine feet wide.

The sink, flanking counters, and base and wall cabinets extend along the rear wall and one side wall to form the shape of the letter "L." Above the sink is a window that will provide the lady of the house with a pleasant view of her yard and children at play when she is preparing meals and washing dishes.

The refrigerator and another cabinet-counter unit are located along a wall section opposite the

Short Center Hall

A short center hall extends with the long dimension of the "Kevin" from roughly the dining area to the bedroom wing of the house. The dining area adjoins the kitchen and measures 9½ feet by 12 feet. The dining area and the kitchen employ the open styling but a narrow partition unit next to the refrigerator can be installed at little cost to block off the side view of the refrigerator. A broom closet is handily located in the center hall near the dining area.

The bathroom is a generously proportioned area and measures 6½ feet by 12 feet. There is a linen closet reached from inside the bathroom and also one located just outside the bathroom but having access from the hall.

Three Large Bedrooms

Each of the three bedrooms in the "Kevin" is large. Two are each 12 feet long by 11 feet, eight inches wide.

The third bedroom is 12 feet long by nine feet wide. Each of the three bedrooms has a double size

Here's the Answer

By ANDREW C. LANG

The Associated Press

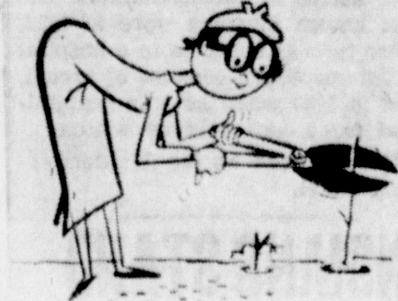

Question: There are some rust stains on our kitchen sink. Rubbing them with soap or a detergent does no good. Can you tell me how to remove them?

Answer: Rust stains on porcelain usually can be removed by rubbing them with lemon juice. An old toothbrush can be used for the rubbing. It is important that the area be washed quickly so that the acid in the lemon juice does not remove the glaze from the porcelain. Perhaps an even better way to remove the rust is to buy one of the liquid cleaners made specifically for taking stains from porcelain.

Question: I intend to put new mesh on all window screens in our house. I have done two of them so far and have found it difficult to tighten the mesh, which is ordinary galvanized screening. The only way I was able to do it was to have my wife hold the mesh taut while I did the tacking. Isn't there some way I can handle this without having someone help me?

Answer: Place the wooden frame on a table or other support large enough so that none of the frame overhangs. Get two boards at least one inch thick and place them under the ends of the frame. Now clamp the sides of the frame

Plans of the "Kevin" are acceptable to the FHA and the VA. Blueprints Available. Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home Of The Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

MISSING CO-ED LEAVES EX-CON, RETURNS HOME

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. (AP) — Brunette Priscilla "Polly" Whitcomb, who vanished from the Smith College campus for 17 months, says she voluntarily broke off her romance with handsome parole violator because she could not continue living "a life of false pretenses."

The 20-year-old daughter of U.S. Atty. Louis G. Whitcomb told newsmen she intends to stay home until she makes plans for the future and "these plans do not involve any other individual at the present time."

Richard S. Thatcher, 21, the restaurant counterperson for whom Polly left school in November, 1956, was taken from Boston to Northampton, Mass., late Friday to face a charge of unlawfully obtaining an automobile by trick or fraudulent representation.

Defer Arraignment
The charge is based on Thatcher's renting of a car before the pair disappeared. The car was found later in a Boston parking garage.

Because today is Patriots Day in Massachusetts, a holiday marking the battles of Concord and Lexington, Thatcher's arraignment was deferred until Monday.

Polly's statement that her plans at present involve no other individual was somewhat at variance with the tone of a letter she left Thatcher when she started home. The letter, disclosed in Boston, said: "I'm sure we can settle this quietly, love. I'll be in touch with you. I love you very, very much."

Boston police quoted Thatcher as saying he loved the girl and wanted to marry her. He said they had not married though they lived at three addresses in Boston under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kutz.

"Love Polly"
A letter found among Thatcher's possessions, signed "Love, Polly," asked Santa Claus to bring "35 days of health and happiness for my sweet, long-suffering, hard-working husband."

Thatcher, from Evanston, Ill., was paroled from Colorado State Reformatory in 1955 after serving a sentence for passing a bad check. In the fall of 1956 he obtained a job in a coffee shop across the street from the Smith College campus in Northampton. It was here that he and Polly met.

Colorado authorities said he has been listed as a parole violator since his disappearance.

The girl's father, overjoyed over her return at midnight Thursday night, brushed off questions about her activities by saying: "I'm interested in only one thing, and that is my daughter's welfare. Let's just say she was a teen-age girl being foolish and wanting to run away."

"When she's ready to talk to me," Whitcomb said, "I'll let her talk, and I'm certainly not going to rush her. I haven't asked her a lot of questions. I want to give her time."

Thatcher was working as a $50 a week clerk in a Boston haberdashery when police found him after the girl's return.

HERBERT HOOVER ENTERS HOSPITAL

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover is at the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center undergoing what hospital officials term medical tests.

The hospital said Hoover, 83, was admitted Thursday. It declined to specify the nature of the tests but said further details might be forthcoming today.

Hoover has been in good health and active in recent months. His last known illnesses were in 1953, when he was confined to a hospital in Miami Beach because of a cold, and in 1950 when he was hospitalized for a gall bladder attack.

Hoover lives at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

INDIANS STAND READY TO STOP POLICE SIEGE

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Tribal brothers of the Tuscarora Indians stood by today to help fight a four-day old war with New York State. Police feared another clash was in the offing.

Friday passed in a calm, almost festive mood—a far cry from the flareup Thursday that landed three braves and a surveyor for the State Power Authority under arrest.

But Friday night some other members of the Iroquois Confederacy began arriving at the reservation to lend support in the Tuscaroras' fight with the Power Authority.

Indians Defend Land
The Authority has appropriated 1,383 acres of the Tuscarora Reservation, about a fifth, for use in a 600 million dollar power project. Surveyors have been trying to get on the land since Wednesday but so far have been driven off.

Niagara County Sheriff James K. Murphy, who reached an agreement with the Tuscaroras last Thursday to keep the peace, said, "It looks like its going to be a bad situation at the reservation."

There was still no indication of what, beyond sending the surveyors back to the reservation each day, the Power Authority intended to do next.

Suggests Court
The Authority's general counsel, Thomas F. Moore Jr., told head Tuscarora Chief Elton (Black Cloud) Greene that the matter could be settled in the courts but that he surveying must go on. Greene asked Moore to stop the surveying for a few days.

The Indians disclosed that their attorney, Arthur Lazarus, had filed in New York City for a Federal Court order to stop the survey pending a hearing on a permanent injunction.

PRIEST DENIES BIRTH CONTROL IS NECESSARY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Roman Catholic Church spokesman, denying that birth control is needed because of a rapidly growing world population, says this contention has been discredited many times.

The Rev. John E. Kelly, director of the Bureau of Information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, conceded there are many problems in feeding a larger world.

"But the solution lies in the fields of economic, technological advances and redistribution of the food supply," Father Kelly said.

Called 'Ethically Weak'
His comment was contained in a statement issued in reply to a Protestant leader who called the Catholic Church's attitude toward birth control "theologically wrong and ethically weak."

Dr. Richard M. Fagley, executive secretary for international affairs of the World Council of Churches, said Asia and other underprivileged areas are facing "a population explosion with disastrous consequences." He blamed the Catholic Church.

Father Kelly, in turn, said Dr. Fagley's argument was "theologically wrong and ethically weak." He quoted the scriptural passage wherein God tells Adam and Eve to multiply and replenish the earth.

"Dr. Fagley would divide and subvert, not multiply," said Father Kelly.

JORDAN EYEING BETTER FUTURE

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan's government these days acts like a poor bridegroom who has married into a rich family—but the bridegroom may have to wait a long time to collect an inheritance.

Jordan's deputy prime minister and strong man, Samir Rafai, believes his country's marriage with oil-rich Iraq in a new federation will help solve Jordan's major problems—the country's chronic need for foreign financial aid and the fact that one third of Jordan's population are refugees living off a United Nations dole.

Reports that Iraq indicate, however, that Iraq leaders are far from eager to shoulder these burdens.

Shun Foreign Aid
In an interview, Rafai predicted his country could dispense with foreign financial aid within a year after the federation is implemented. If true, Jordan might cease to be the powder-keg of the Arab world.

So long as Jordan had to have foreign aid, it meant friction and bickering among outside powers as to which one should provide the aid and hence command a dominant position in Jordan. Trouble resulting from this situation has been largely responsible for the violent propaganda war now raging between Jordan and Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Almost all U.S. Marines since 1915 have gotten their training on Parris Island, a long island that lies off the coast of Charleston, S. C.

Issue was an increase in the price of bread.

The Cabinet's fall probably meant that Finland, second only to France in post-World War II cabinet crises, was headed for another long period of political uncertainty.

G. W. HEALY TO HEAD EDITORS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Society of Newspaper Editors today prepared to elect to its presidency George W. Healy Jr., editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Healy will succeed Virgil Dabney, editor of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch.

The society's 16-member board of directors scheduled the election but the choice of Healy was taken for granted since the society traditionally moves its first vice president up to the top job.

Healy, 52, is a former chairman of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., a former director of the Inter-American Press Assn., and during World War II was domestic director of the government's Office of War Information.

The normal succession will elevate J. R. Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post & Times Herald, from second vice president to first vice president. Wiggins thus will come into line for the presidency a year hence.

The gavel will change hands at tonight's banquet ending ASNE's three-day annual meeting here. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas will address the 400 delegates.

R. W. Walden saddled seven Preakness winners between 1875 and 1888. T. J. Healey won five between 1901 and 1929. Jim Fitzsimmons has saddled four — Nashua, Omaha, Gallant Fox and Bold Ruler.

Baby's Stomach Is Now Rightside Up

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Michael Miracle's stomach is now right side up.

It wasn't two weeks ago when the 23-month-old youngster was rushed to a hospital, suddenly and critically ill.

Tests showed the boy was suffocating. His stomach, swollen with air and fluids, had crowded his left lung until there was little room for air in it. The stomach also had shoved his heart into the right side of the chest, cutting off most air to the right lung.

It took a 1½ hour operation to pull the stomach back down into the abdominal cavity and to remove the swelling in the irritated and kinked small intestine.

"Mike's doing fine now," said his surgeons after a checkup.

He was too busy to notice the discussion of his case. He was trying out the hospital's sliding board.

YANKEES SCORE RED CHARGES

VIENNA (AP) — The U.S. Embassy in Prague said its second secretary and consul was packing today after Communist Czechoslovakia charged him with spying and ordered him to leave.

Washington called the charges against Joseph R. Jacyno "a frameup."

EXPECT BOOST IN 1959 AUTOS

BOSTON (AP) — A General Motors executive predicted Friday price tags on 1959 model cars will be higher this fall if "labor succeeds in obtaining a bigger wage increase than that provided in its present contract."

GM Vice President Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick, indicated GM is standing firm on its offer to renew wage provisions in the present contract with the United Auto Workers.

Ragsdale spoke before a meeting of Boston businessmen.

The company has offered to extend for two years a provision in the present contract which gives workers an annual productivity increase of 6 cents an hour. The average hourly wage in auto plants now is about $2.40. In his prepared speech, Ragsdale said: "For more than a decade now, business has been caught in a vicious cost-price squeeze. We have been besieged on one side by organized labor—with its persistent and continuing demand for higher wages—and on the other side by the consumer who has become alarmed at the ever-increasing price he must pay for the goods he needs."

"If labor succeeds in obtaining a bigger wage increase than that provided in its present contract, we will be forced to return to the marketplace this fall with a product that has still a higher price tag on it."

Ragsdale voiced belief "there will be a resurgence of our economy this year—barring, of course, a major strike."

The State Department said Jacyno was lending some recordings of American music to a Czech friend Thursday when three Czech plain clothesmen arrested him. He was held incommunicado for two hours, the department added.

Unemployment Claims Dropped Last Week

HARRISBURG (AP) — Unemployment claims dropped last week, the Bureau of Employment Security reported Thursday. New claims were 20 per cent below the previous week.

The bureau said there were 331,643 continued claims, a drop of 17,909 from the week ended April 4, while new claims dropped to 47,221.

The decline was due, the bureau said, primarily to "claimant rescheduling because of the Good Friday holiday" and "also due to the exhaustion of benefit rights by claimants."

The beginning of free public libraries was established in London by an act of Parliament in 1850.

ASK RESTRAINT ON COURT ORDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Counsel for two western Pennsylvania newspapers asked the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday to restrain the sheriff of Westmoreland County from enforcing a contempt order against the newspapers.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and the Greensburg Tribune Review are appealing rulings by the Westmoreland County Court and the Pennsylvania Supreme Court holding them guilty of contempt because of news pictures taken outside a courtroom in Greensburg during a murder trial in 1954.

In upholding the decision of the lower court, the State Supreme Court suspended jail sentences imposed upon those held responsible for the picture-taking, but ordered that fines be paid.

The appellants, in taking their case to the U.S. Court of Appeals, ask an injunction that would bar the sheriff from enforcing any part of the original sentence.

John C. Bane, representing the Post-Gazette, and Daniel J. Snyder Jr., for the Tribune Review, argued that in large, the constitutional rights of a free press are at stake in this so-called photo ban case and that specifically, the rights of a newspaper to take pictures unobtrusively outside a courtroom.

SNYDER REPLIES TO REP. MOSS ON CENSORSHIP

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Defense Murray Snyder said Friday any curbs applied to armed services data under President Eisenhower's reorganization proposal will aim at a better flow of news—news that is factual, objective and prompt.

Snyder, Pentagon information chief, struck back before the American Society of Newspaper Editors at accusations of censorship and news suppression made yesterday by Rep. Moss (D-Calif.).

"It seems to me that John Moss, in his loud blasts about censorship, muzzles, secrecy, manipulation of information and his warnings about worse to come at the Pentagon is indulging in imaginative, swivel-chair reporting," Snyder said.

"Talks Too Much"
"Anyone who reads the volume of defense news in his daily paper knows things aren't as bad, as Gloomy John paints them."

Moss, chairman of a House subcommittee studying government information practices, told the ASNE's annual meeting yesterday that under Eisenhower's proposed Pentagon reorganization abuse of the security system would become worse. He said new instructions apparently made Snyder the undisputed censor of what the public shall know about the vast military establishment.

Snyder told the editors Friday that many persons, including some members of Congress, feel the Defense Department talks too much instead of too little.

He also disputed a claim by Moss that news arrangements at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., missile and satellite launching area represent a throwback to wartime voluntary censorship.

NAVY LAUNCHES NEW POLARIS

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Navy Polaris missile—which is being developed for launching from submarines—was launched from the Air Force missile center Friday.

An announcement said merely that a Polaris test vehicle was launched.

The Polaris is designed to have a range about 1,500 miles.

Rear Adm. William F. Raborn, the man in charge of its development, has been quoted as saying that when it becomes operational in 1960 it can hit any target in the world.

Three new nuclear submarines to carry the Polaris are to be built. The missile itself is designed to carry a nuclear warhead.

RAPS QUALITY OF EDUCATION

WASHINGTON (AP)—An author-editor told the nation's editors Friday that the quality of education provided in American classrooms is disgracefully low.

Arthur Bestor, University of Illinois historian and former head of the Council for Basic Education, told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that "professional educationists" have frittered away the country's resources of youthful talent on what he called "trivial and short-sighted programs."

Bestor's speech was prepared for a panel session at the editors' annual meeting. It was expected to draw a vigorous reply from another panelist, Dr. William G. Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Assn.

Bestor noted that 50,000 American students are studying German, as compared with five million Soviet pupils. American schools offer physics for one year, he said, while Soviet schools require physics for five years.

MISSING SMITH COLLEGE GIRL IS HOME AGAIN

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. (AP)—Priscilla "Polly" Whitcomb, 20, who vanished from the Smith College campus, Nov. 9, 1956, came home Friday in answer to the unflinching hope of her dad, U.S. Atty. Louis G. Whitcomb.

"We're very happy to have Polly home, and I am pleased to report she is in good health," Whitcomb said.

Newsmen were not permitted to talk to the girl.

Gives No Details
Whitcomb declined to discuss the whereabouts of Richard S. Thatcher, 21, a Northampton, Mass., restaurant worker Polly had been dating. He disappeared at the same time.

Whitcomb said of him only: "Regarding the whereabouts of the young man who was missing at the same time as my daughter, I wish to say I have furnished all the information that I have to the proper authorities."

He declined to elaborate.

Lived In Boston
Whitcomb issued a statement which said the girl had been living in Boston.

Whitcomb said he felt the publicity given the case had aided materially in the return of the girl.

Thatcher, who came from Evanston, Ill., was a parolee from a Colorado reformatory. Two days after Polly left college, an investigation showed Thatcher had rented a car. It later was found in a public garage in Boston. Polly's typewriter turned up in a Boston pawnshop, whose owner said a youth answering Thatcher's description pawned it for $35.

The St. Louis Cardinals seem set for relief pitchers this year. Billy Muffett and Lloyd Merritt worked 67 games between them, all in relief, in 1957.

Tom Riley, who has spent most of his 37 years as a poor miner, hit a gigantic jackpot two weeks ago. His two penny investment in the British football pools, a sort of national lottery, won $585,000.

He gathered around him his two married daughters and his two married sons—including a son from Canton, Ohio—and gave each $56,000. He kept the rest.

The Rileys still live in their four-room cottage. The visiting son from Ohio, 37-year-old Henry, beds down each night on an old couch put up for him in the kitchen.

Suddenly Popular
Henry, a milk company supervisor back in Ohio, brought along his wife Florence and their sons, Frank, 11, and Richard, 7. They left Tommy, 13, crippled with polio.

Henry says the only difference he found in the family on his arrival here from America is that they've suddenly become extremely popular. Begging letters from all over the world pile into the Riley cottage.

"I reckon we've had about 2,000 of them," the father said. "It is amazing what people ask for."

Mother Riley nodded: "Yes, we even had one from Ghana asking for money to supply some sort of rebel troops."

"One man knocked at the door and asked for 400 pounds ($1,200) to do some repairs to his boarding house."

Earned $22.40 A Week
Before the big win, Tom Riley did his eight-hour stint at the pit, came home and watched television. He earned $22.40 a week and rarely went on a night out.

Each week he staked 35 cents at the most on football pools.

He still gambles on the pools, but only for 35 cents.

Tom says he's quit the mine pit for good, but not to fritter away his money. He's been without it for too long, he insists.

The Rileys plan a holiday tour of England. "At the end of that we'll go back and stay with Henry for three months in Ohio," Mrs. Riley said.

Afterwards they will return to England, move from their little mining cottage and go into a new house in the country.

FORTUNE FAILS TO CHANGE LIFE OF MINER, WIFE

By JOHN FARROW
HORDEN, England (AP)—Being rich has made few changes in the life of Riley here in this bleak coal mining town in northeast England.

Tom Riley, who has spent most of his 37 years as a poor miner, hit a gigantic jackpot two weeks ago. His two penny investment in the British football pools, a sort of national lottery, won $585,000.

He gathered around him his two married daughters and his two married sons—including a son from Canton, Ohio—and gave each $56,000. He kept the rest.

SPACEMEN BREAK RADIO SILENCE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Six Navy enlisted men moved into the last half of their simulated seven-day trip to the moon early today after breaking radio silence because of an instrument defect.

The Navy men contacted the outside world after instruments showed low lung capacity readings for two of the sailors.

Investigation disclosed a leak in the hose to a vitalometer, a device which measures the amount of air breathed into and exhaled from the lungs.

After the hose was repaired, the six resumed silence inside the sealed chambers.

The simulated flight is being conducted by nine scientists at the Philadelphia Naval Base.

The men will return from their "trip to the moon" Tuesday afternoon.

FIND BODY OF CRASH VICTIM

NEWBERRYTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The body of a 21-year-old man believed killed in a motorcycle accident Thursday night was found Friday in an orchard near here.

Dr. J. Lester Eshleman, deputy York County coroner, identified the man as Glen E. Miller, of New Cumberland.

Eshleman said the youth apparently suffered fatal injuries when he failed to make a turn on the Old Susquehanna Trail a few miles north of Newberrytown and crashed into a tree.

He said the youth apparently was killed Thursday night. The body was found by Conrad I. Page, owner of the orchard.

Police said the youth recently was discharged from the U.S. Navy.

Quakers Send Ike Radioactive Food
WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said Friday a crate of reportedly radioactive vegetables shipped to President Eisenhower from California has been disposed of.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty declined to provide any details regarding the disposition.

The crate of vegetables was sent to Eisenhower from the Berkeley, Calif., local Society of Friends—Quakers.

Society officials in Berkeley said similar crates were sent to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in protest against nuclear weapons tests and the arms race.

The shipments were accompanied by a letter saying the vegetables were purchased in a California grocery store.

Hagen said even at this distance from the earth, there is a small amount of drag on satellites moving at a speed of five miles a second.

In time, this drag will cause the Vanguard to fall back toward earth, Hagen said, "but we now know that Vanguard will be with us for at least 200 years."

Wife Of Hargitay Asks More Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mickey Hargitay's earning power has gone up, and so has the cost of living, and so should his support payments, his first wife contends.

Hargitay, now the husband of actress Jayne Mansfield, was sued for additional child support payments by Mrs. Mary A. Hargitay, who divorced him Sept. 6, 1956.

At that time, she said, the court ordered Hargitay to pay $20 a week for support of their daughter, Tina, now 9. Hargitay wasn't working then, she said, but has since become an actor whose earning capacity has reached $5,500 a week. She asked the court to fix a higher support allowance, in keeping with his earnings.

The British considered using Russian troops as mercenaries during the American Revolutionary War.

China now has a phonetic alphabet of 26 letters, simplifying its traditional complex systems of hundreds of ideographs.
